Afternoon Tea Origins.

ANNA MARIA,
(Seventh Duchess of Bedford)
is credited with the invention of Afternoon Tea in 1840.

She is said to have experienced what she called a 'sinking feeling' in the middle of the afternoon due to the long gap between light luncheon and her evening meal.

To relieve her hunger pangs she asked her footman to bring her a pot of tea and a little light refreshment and soon she enjoyed this ritual so much she began to invite her friends over for tea and gossip about the latest scandal.

The ritual caught on and afternoon tea became all the rage among the upper crust. Soon all of fashionable London was indulging in afternoon tea, as you can too with this classic institution.

As formal as you like, it’s all about coming together over a brew, perhaps to nibble on a cake or two, having a chat and definitely lots of fun together.

Enjoy!
